

Industry Professionals serving as non-executive directors to Alternative Funds

Corporate governance specialists announce expansion

Two new directors have joined our panel of directors who are available to serve as NEDs:

- John-Mark Considine, who is resident in Switzerland and whose specialities are risk management, operations and business development.
- Thomas Glynn, who is resident in Dublin and whose specialities are investment management, risk management and accounting.

John-Mark and Tom join our existing team of 15 panel members, who are (by jurisdiction):

- Ireland: Nicola Meaden Grenham and Victoria Parry
- Cayman: Simon Cawdery, Simon Ecclefield, Richard Ellison and Simon Nock
- Bermuda: James Keyes
- Barbados: Keith Day
- Channel Islands: Gary Clark
- Luxembourg: Frédérique Bouchet
- Malta: Brian O'Callaghan
- Switzerland: Sarah Caygill
- UK: Caroline Hoare, Charles Lillis and Stella Murrell

IPAF's principles have never changed: we promote high-calibre boards for alternative funds. All our panel directors have significant hands-on experience of working in the industry and the commitment to make a real contribution to the funds on whose boards they serve. No additional fee is charged by IPAF to a fund that chooses a member of its panel as a director; the fund only pays the director's fees.

Biographies of all available directors appear on the website www.ipafgroup.com.
